

Introduction

This document provides links to child care market rate survey reports included in states' 2019-2021 Child Care and Development Fund plans. These links were active as of January 2020. If reports are no longer accessible, contact the state for copies of their reports. The District of Columbia conducted an alternative methodology in lieu of a market rate survey and a link to their report is included. This summary of surveys does not constitute approval of or endorsement from the Office of Child Care as a best practice approach or ensure that the surveys are necessarily statistically valid and reliable.

The next CCDF Plan cycle began July 1, 2019, when the window opened for conducting studies for the 2022-2024 Plan. As Lead Agencies consider how to gather data for the next plan, it is instructive to see how other states conducted past studies.

Lead Agencies must prepare a detailed report of their market rate survey findings that is widely available and posted to the internet within 30 days of completing the report. In addition to including the results of the market rate survey, the report must include the estimated cost of care (including any relevant variation by geographic location, category of provider, or age of child) to support child care providers' implementation of the health, safety, quality, and staffing requirements (base level care) and higher-quality care, as defined by the Lead Agency, and responses to stakeholders. Many of the plans linked here do not include information about the costs of care or responses to stakeholders, as is now required.
